

Pipol managed international support service

Could your company benefit from a new toolset to facilitate CORE and local application support for your international Dynamics 365 implementation? If so, we can help.

Pipol is pleased to share our new custom support concept service as a cost-effective effective way to stabilize your global business operations.

Excellent support is business-critical

Effective application support in an international CORE deployment scenario is essential. Support requests need a fast, full, on-target response by the most appropriate CORE or local resource. Companies that work across countries need to avoid solving the same issue at multiple sites. And the new requirements that come from CORE or local stakeholders need to be prioritized.

How you'll benefit from Pipol's ready-made international support model

Pipol's custom support concept will ensure that your company gains optimal value from our worldwide partner alliance and the Pipol Sure Step XT methodology. You'll benefit from globally harmonized commercial terms and response time SLAs; globally defined processes on support facilitation and requirement management; global CORE partner support, and locally delivered support (in your language); and so much more.
